

When a single corporation controls all the media in a city, there's a name for it, it's called a dictatorship. The media should not be controlled by corporations to begin with. The fact that it is, only points to the fact that this is no democracy.